ROMAN CATHOLIC
DIOCESE OF SYRACUSE

On November 22, the Diocese of Syracuse will celebrate the 140th anniversary of the founding of our diocese with a special Mass of Thanksgiving at 2pm on Christ the King Sunday at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. The actual anniversary date is November 26, 1886 which falls on Thanksgiving Day . During the Mass, Papal Honors will be presented to individuals who have devoted their lives to the Catholic faith and in service to the diocese. It will be a time to thank God for all He has bestowed on our diocese and share in the joy of this significant moment in our life as a local Church. It is open to the public and will also be livestreamed. We hope you'll join us!

El 22 de noviembre, la Diócesis de Syracuse celebrará el 140° aniversario de la fundación de nuestra diócesis con una misa especial de Acción de Gracias a las 14:00 horas del domingo de Cristo Rey en la Catedral de la Inmaculada Concepción. La fecha real del aniversario es el 26 de noviembre de 1886, que coincide con el Día de Acción de Gracias. Durante la misa, se entregarán Honores Papales a personas que hayan dedicado su vida a la fe católica y al servicio de la diócesis. Será un momento para dar gracias a Dios por todo lo que ha otorgado a nuestra diócesis y compartir la alegría de este momento tan importante en nuestra vida como Iglesia local. Está abierto al público y también se retransmitirá en directo. ¡Esperamos que te unas a nosotros!

Our prayers and support are with you until you return to us, Zane!
¡Nuestras oraciones y apoyo están contigo hasta que regreses a nosotros, Zane!

For much of his time with us, Zane has been actively discerning his next steps in life and especially how the Lord is calling him in his Vocation. As part of his incredible trust in the Lord, Zane has been accepted to a Missionary Program called Con-Solatio, and he will dedicate the next year or so to a ministry of presence in a Catholic Community in Senegal, Africa! Zane will be with us through part of December, but as part of his endeavor, he is responsible for fundraising for program costs. If you are able to support him, please do so generously, and be sure to hold him in prayers–he has been a tremendous blessing to our Paduan Family this year. More Info to come, please also feel free to reach out directly to him, too.

All Saints Day & Vocation Awareness Week!

On this Solemnity of All Saints–an all time favorite day!--this year the Church also begins National Vocation Awareness Week today, we are invited to lift our eyes to the great multitude that no one can count—those who "have washed their robes in the Blood of the Lamb and now stand before the throne" (cf. Rev 7). They are not a distant company of the exceptionally gifted. Rather, they are the ordinary men and women who, in every age and every vocation, allowed the love of the Father to shape their lives. "See what love the Father has bestowed on us," St. John writes, "that we may be called the children of God. Yet so we are." Holiness is not an achievement reserved for a few; it is the unfolding of a gift already given. Every single one of us is called to sanctity! And the Lord himself desires it for you.

The Beatitudes show us the concrete 'path' of that unfolding. To be poor in spirit, meek, merciful, pure of heart, and a peacemaker is to live as one who belongs entirely to God and is therefore free to serve His people. Which is why the beatitudes, described by Pope Benedict, are a blueprint of the heart of God. Jesus himself is perfectly "the blessed One" who is the incarnation of these words that begin the Sermon on the Mount (Mt. 5-7). These are not abstract virtues, and thinking of Vocations Week, they are the daily choices of the priest who pours out his life in the sacraments and the confessional, of the deacon who brings the Gospel to the margins, of the religious who consecrate their hours in prayer and works of charity. Their lives, very often hidden, become luminous and a reflection to us of the life of Jesus himself precisely because they are offered without reserve. Across the beauty of religious vocations, it is the desire of the Lord that in and through them we can see the incredible gift of a life offered and consecrated to God and placed at the service of the Church and all members of His Body—it has the potential to reflect the same beauty of the Saints that fills the heavenly multitude.

Starting with one's "Yes" to the Lord, grace can then enter in, overshadow, and fill abundantly the heart of one striving to follow after the Lord's call. Such a life begins and is sustained in the spiritual life. It's not just one "yes", but rather daily, constant, multiple "yeses" of all sizes, that enable a life to be freely and wholeheartedly offered to the Lord. We become more fully the children of God we already are when we make room for prayer, for the Eucharist, and for the quiet listening that purifies the heart. Everyone who has this hope in Christ, St. John reminds us, makes himself pure as He is pure. In that purification we discover not only our own calling but the transformation of life that even encourages others. Vocations do not arise in a vacuum. They are born and sustained by the prayer of the whole Church.

This week we are asked to pray with particular intentionality for vocations to the priesthood, the diaconate, and consecrated life, especially within our parish and our diocese. We ask the Lord to raise up men and women who will live the Beatitudes in the heart of the Church, so that more of God's people may be accompanied, nourished, and strengthened on the journey toward the vision of His face. The saints intercede for us. Our prayers, inspired by their true friendship with us, can help prepare the next generation of servants who will one day stand among that countless multitude. May the grace of this feast and this week deepen our own desire for holiness and stir in us a renewed commitment to pray that many will hear the call to offer their lives completely—for the glory of God and the good of His people.

ORA POR NUESTROS SEMINARISTAS

Es muy importante orar por un aumento en las vocaciones al sacerdocio cada día y que el Señor continúe llamando a corazones generosos para servirle en su iglesia. Cada uno de nosotros tiene una vocación a la santidad, y algunos están llamados a la santa vocación del matrimonio y otros no, pero una cosa es siempre cierta: el Señor desea tu bienestar, conoce el anhelo más profundo de tu corazón, tu felicidad se encuentra en la vocación que a su vez te lleva a reflejar la gloria de Dios a la Iglesia y al mundo. Por favor, oren por nuestros seminaristas para que sean conformados día a día a la imagen de Jesús el sumo sacerdote y que sean llamados a servir a nuestra diócesis como "pastores mansos pero ardientes del rebaño del Señor".

It is so very important to pray for an increase in vocations to the priesthood each day and that the Lord will continue to call generous hearts to serve him in his church. Each one of us has a vocation to holiness, and some are called to the beautiful and holy vocation of marriage and others are not, but one thing is always true: the Lord desires your wellbeing, he knows the deepest longing of your heart, your happiness is found in the vocation that in turn leads you to reflect God's glory to the church and to the world. Please pray for our seminarians that they will be conformed day by day to the image of Jesus the High Priest and that they will be called to serve our diocese as "gentle yet ardent shepherds of the Lord's flock."

National Vocation Awareness Week, celebrated November 1-7, 2026, is an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promoting vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and consecrated life through prayer and education. It is also a time to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these particular vocations.
